

CHAKRA VASTU

Chakra Vastu is the science of balancing universal energies and maximizing their benefits in a Home or Workplace by enhancing the Chakras and Elements of Vastu Purush. It's a simple yet powerful system of reaping maximum benefit by managing energies and influences of the Five Elements, Planets, Chakras, Geometries, Directions and other tools. The entire universe is made up of Panchbhuta or the five elements - Ether (Akash), Air (Vayu), Fire (Agni), Water (Jal) and Earth (Prithvi). These elements and their energies reside both inside and outside of human beings and human dwellings too.

The ancient science of Vastu Shastra, which is derived from Vedas, states the presence of the Vastu Purush, the God of structures and construction in every human dwelling. The Vastu Purush lies with his head towards the Northeast and his feet towards the Southwest with various Deities mounted on Him, becoming the presiding Deities of respective directions. Different energies corresponding to different elements and Chakras of the Vastu Purush reside in different directions and thus at various locations in a human dwelling. Chakra Vastu works on the principle of maximizing various energies and designing your home or work place in accordance with prevailing energies.

Energies of various Chakras, Elements and Planets reside in different directions in a dwelling. To gain maximum benefits and get optimal results from these energies each corner and area is advised to be used for a particular activity. For instance, the Sahasrara Chakra of the Vastu Purush is in Northeast direction. Energy of ether element is also present in this direction. Thus Northeast direction is most suitable to direction for mediation purposes and to build a Puja room. Similarly it's best to have kitchen in the direction where the fire element resides in the dwelling.

If your home or office isn't designed accordingly then to make your dwelling Chakra Vastu complaint and to reap maximum benefits from universal energies, Chakra Vastu has devised kits using different energy products and elements to balance particular energies and to reap maximum benefits from them.

DIRECTIONS AND THEIR USE AT ANY PREMISE IN CHAKRA VASTU

Directions play an important role in Chakra Vastu for home. Let's take a look at the significance of different directions in Chakra Vastu.

❖ North:

- The element present in the North side is Ether. This is the area for expression, creativity and communication. It's best to have study room, living room, board room and staff cabins here.
- The energies of various Chakras and elements can be enhanced and used for empowerment and success by using various tools with the correct methodology. Using the suitable Chakra energy of the Vastu Purush and the five elements as per the principals of Chakra Vastu, will enable maximum utilization of these energies to produce optimal results. As you use the five elements of nature in the different directions, it will usher in all positive energy in different aspects of your life.

❖ South:

- The South is the area that provides energy and stability to the dwelling. It is ideally utilized for bedroom, director's cabin and store room. The element present here is Earth. In the South direction, Earth element can be balanced putting vases, pots and plants. South area can also be balanced by putting some heavy furniture or household items.

❖ East:

- The East side is known as the fulfiller of prayers and desires. This is the direction from where energy emanates and sun rises. This is the direction from where energy is being distributed in all areas of the dwelling. This area may be utilized for living room, study room, meditation purposes, Puja room and entrance. The element present here is Fire.

❖ West:

- The God of Oceans, Lord Varuna, rules the west direction according to Vastu. This west direction is best for creative pursuits. Children's study room and designing rooms are best placed here. The element present here is Water. In the west direction, balance the water element by keeping a fountain or flowers floating on water. Balance this area by with bright orange color and let creativity bloom here.

❖ Northeast:

- Northeast side is ruled by the presence of God consciousness. Therefore, this is one of the most important directions in Chakra Vastu and should be kept empty and clean. This area may be utilized for meditation purposes, Puja room and entrance. The Element present here is Ether. In the Northeast direction, place Puja altar or divine symbols. Keep it open so that the rest of the dwelling is energized by the divine energies emanating from this area.

❖ Northwest:

- The Northwest direction is for air/wind. This is the most central of all elements and connects one to energy of all rooms. This is the area of maximum movements also. Here desires are fulfilled and it is best to have sales and marketing department, meeting room, living room and dining room. In the Northwest direction, balance the air element by simply opening the windows for some time in the morning. Let there be the circulation of fresh air. You will find relationships improving when the air element is balanced.

❖ Southeast:

- The Southeast direction is ruled by fire; hence, it has an abundance of fire energy in it. Ideally, it may be utilized for kitchen, board room, sales and marketing department and conference room. In the Southeast direction balance the fire element by lighting oil lamp and using sufficient lighting. A balance of the fire element will improve the health of all the dwellers.

❖ Southwest:

- The Southwest direction is the area that provides energy, career success, wealth and stability to the dwelling. It is ideally utilized for bedroom and director's cabin. The element present here is Earth. In the Southwest direction, balance the Earth element by putting plants. Plants have the capability to absorb all kinds of negative elements and thus help in cleaning the environment. Other than plants, another important way of balancing the Southwest side is by placing heavy usable storage items. The owner/director needs to reside here to build a Stable and supportive environment.

HOW TO TAKE DIRECTIONS?

- ❖ To take directions you will have to first locate the center of your property. If your property is roughly square or rectangle shaped, you can draw end to end diagonals and the center of your property would be where the diagonals intersect.
- ❖ If the property, house, office or plot is of irregular shape or that of 'T' or 'L' shape, then to locate the center encompass the property in square or rectangle shape and locate the center by using the above method.
- ❖ Once you have the center of your Property. Now place a compass in the center of the property and note down the eight directions namely North, South, East, West, Northeast, Northwest, Southeast and Southwest of your property.
